State of the Art Production

We are not in the paver business to be "as good as!" We have started in front, and plan to stay that way. Our plant is of modern design to allow for higher quality pavers at competitive prices. Here's how we do it!

Stronger Pavers need heated, high pressure molding.

Most pavers hold up well in low stress applications. At Phoenix Paver we set a higher standard, to produce all our pavers for increased durability. Our Columbia machine, with its heated head, enables us to add more water each batch. This allows for a wetter prepress mix and a denser (stronger) after-press paver.

Repeatable Tri-coloration requires the latest technology.

There is no substitute for computer driven dye mixing when you want controlled color variation in every load. Our three bin mix system offers high production without sacrificing day to day consistency. Each bin releases a measured amount of pre-colored material in combination with the others. This process is continually monitored and controlled by our central program.

Quality Service, starts & ends with quality personnel.

We all want to supply your pavers. Phoenix Paver works to hire the best crew so we can offer unsurpassed quality in service, as well as our products.

We do believe,

"The road to success starts with better pavers."™
